

Please use through November 6, 2009.

Contact:

Jessica Watson, First Friday ArtWalk Coordinator,
541-912-6669, jessicaannwatson09@gmail.com
Douglas Beauchamp, Lane Arts Council
541-485-2278, lanearts@lanearts.org
On the web at www.lanearts.org

Lane Arts Council's First Friday ArtWalk on November 6th is guest hosted by singer Jessie Marquez. Marquez has sung in clubs, cabarets, theaters, street parties, and on television and radio throughout Cuba, but also has made a name for herself throughout the Northwest. The ArtWalk tour begins at 5:30 pm at White Lotus Gallery at 767 Willamette St., followed by stops at Imagine Gallery, Passionflower Design, Full City Café, and David Minor Theater. Always Free.

Special Events:

--Altars, Procession, and Celebration of Day of Death" - free family event co-hosted by Peace Village with altars, Mexican skulls exhibit, and live music by Duo Piel Canela, 5:30 to 8:00 pm, procession starts at 6:00 pm at Network Charter School (43 W. Broadway)

--* Opening reception for Grrrlz Rock: A salute to Judy Chicago from 6-8pm in the Tykeson Room of the Eugene Public Library (100 West 10th Ave.)

--No Shame Theatre Eugene from 7:30-9:30 pm at Atrium Building (10th and Olive)

In addition, these galleries and venues will also be open during the ArtWalk from 5:30-8 p.m. on November 6th:

Blue Moon Jewelry Design* with the work of Renee Ford, Tracey Bell, Margarita O'Brien, Nancy Piccioni, Jennifer Hoover, Marcella Powell and introducing their newest artist, local metalsmith Hannah Goldrich, DIVA with the work of David Teng-Olson, Andries Fourie, Christina Karns and Gareth Spor, Susan Sutton, and Brooke Borcharding, DIVA Holiday Annex* (80 E. Broadway) with work by Ruth Van Buren, Lin Cook, Stephen White, Barry Geller, Renee Manford, Gladys Bacon-Rust, Terry McIrath, Sarkis Antikajian, Dan Chen, Jerry Ross, Adrian Adam, Steve Rienmuth, Ellen Tykeson, Goldworks with the work of JoEllen Gregori Waldvogel, Harlequin Beads and Jewelry with the work of Grace McNabb from Accents of Grace, Jacobs Gallery with the work of Anne Godfrey and Scott Huette, Karin Clarke Gallery and Annex with the work of Erik Sandgren, David P. Miller, and Barbara Kensler, La Follette Gallery and Framing with the work of Holly Werner, MODERN, New Zone Artistic Collective with the work of Julie Ann Mills-Testi, Studio Tre Amiche with the work of Rogena Degge, Patsy Hand, and Kathryn Hutchinson, Studio West with the work of Blue Mitchell, Greg Mrotek, Cheryl Molnar, and Michael Orwick, and Vistra Framing and Gallery with the work of George Hamilton.

Galleries featuring women artists in collaboration with Grrrlz Rock!

Details about First Friday ArtWalk hosted stops for November 6th:

#1 White Lotus Gallery - 767 Willamette St

White Lotus Gallery is pleased to present Asian Art in Scroll Format, featuring hanging scrolls from Japan and China. The scrolls on display are from the 19th and 20th centuries. They showcase various scripts of East Asian calligraphy as well as paintings of popular themes, such as landscape and flower-and-bird. Hanging scrolls have a long history in China and are the most common and recognizable form of Chinese paintings and calligraphy. The scroll painting evolved from simple scrolls of written prose, such as poems, short stories, and Buddhist prayers. The practice of accompanying these writings with artistic depictions had been perfected by the scholar, official and aristocratic classes, who possessed the leisure time to devote to the technique and sensibility necessary for great brushwork. Hanging scrolls became popular for their ease of display and storage as well as portability. As a result, they were introduced to Japan in the Heian period (794-1185) in the form of sutra scrolls and mainly displayed in Buddhist temples. By the Muromachi period (1336-1573), however, hanging scrolls (kakejiku) began to be associated with the tea ceremony and appreciated for their aesthetic qualities as works of art. Landscapes, flower-and-bird paintings, portraiture, and poetry became the favorite themes.

#2 Imagine Gallery* - 35 E 8th

Noelle Dass has been painting her whole life. For several years, she focused on a more traditional way of painting, but as time went on, her true personality began to show in her work. Her love of animals and quirky sense of humor shine through in her whimsical pieces. Noelle states, "To surround ourselves with art that makes us happy can have a powerful impact on our moods and therefore our lives. So many people tell me that my art makes them feel good whenever they look at it, perhaps in the morning when they are eating breakfast and see it upon the wall or in their hallway as they pass by. It is my belief that to make someone feel good inside means more than anything in this crazy world we live in."

3 Passionflower Design* - 128 E Broadway

Playful, whimsical, and colorful are all words that apply to Corvallis artist Barb Campbell's work. Combining a love of texture, design, and color, Barb makes hand built forms that are mostly white with splashes of saturated color. She will be showing a large selection of "Pots for the Table," which will include everything from tumblers, sipping cups, and teapots to large vessels for flowers. In addition, the floral designers at Passionflower will take the opportunity to fill many of these pieces with fabulous flowers. Prepare to be inspired.

4 Full City Café* - 842 Pearl St

Full City Coffee will feature Anita Browning's collage/assemblage art, in which she incorporates old photos, found objects, ephemera, and findings from nature. Artist Jaqueline Lukowski works mostly in oil or watercolor and occasionally acrylic. She focuses primarily on landscapes, but from time to time paints portraits, the human figure, or floral. Michael Wherley is a fractal artist that uses mathematics to create his pieces. He states, "Fractal Universe highlights the correspondences between the visible world and the world of mathematics. These images were created with the use of fractal software, which maps mathematical equations in two dimensions. By using various coloring patterns and textures, a remarkable diversity of beautiful, often recognizable forms results." Maleah Matthews is a local photographer who started taking pictures as a hobby about a year and a half ago. Recently, Sony Pictures acquired five of her photographs for the film The Roommate, in theaters in 2010.

5 David Minor Theater* - 180 E 5th Ave.

David Minor Theater is hosting the acrylic and mixed media works of Wendi Kai. Her exhibit is entitled "Gilded Pieces to the Puzzle," which is an exploration of herself. She states, "I was previously obsessed with content and these new paintings have a lot more to do with understanding myself through the process of painting, rather than communicating intent. I am exploring new colors, coupling different textures and media, and allowing myself to take chances I previously wouldn't allow myself to take."

END